Quote
"We are thrilled to have the beautiful Noah Liff Opera Center as Nashville Opera's permanent home, as it will enable our company to reach a new level of performance excellence, said Carol Penterman, executive director of Nashville Opera. "Our thanks goes out to all those who were instrumental in making our dream a reality—Earl Swensson Associates, D.F. Chase Construction, and most of all, our beloved patrons and fellow opera lovers."

Project Overview
D.F. Chase was contracted to rebuild and renovate the relocated new home and permanent headquarters for the Nashville Opera Center. The Nashville Opera is Tennessee's largest professional opera company and is dedicated to creating legendary productions and programs. The $6 million dollar facility was made possible by generous contributions to Nashville Opera's first-ever capital campaign. The center encompasses 26,000 square feet of office, studio and warehouse spaces, as well as large community spaces for special events. The Noah Liff Opera Center will be formally opened to the public in the spring of 2009 with a free grand opening celebration for the public.
